Back to School

What a fun week this has been! The energy and excitement has only been bested by the smiles I see, quite literally, everywhere around the school. Thank you to all of our “new” families who have so thoughtfully made a point of letting our hardworking teachers and staff know that this week has been just as great for your students as it’s been for us!

We’re still working out final details, down to the minutes of the day, as schedules reveal their “real time” workings this week and next, and students settle in to the rhythm and rhyme of the day. While we’re making some small changes, for the most part it’s been an incredibly great start to the school year. Mrs. Collin’s music classes have gotten off on a high note, Mr. Chris’ P.E. Class hit the ground running, and it’s truly an art how well Ms. Lindsay’s classes have been going, there’s certainly some budding artistic talent among our students. ‘La vie est belle’ in Madame Doxey’s French Class, and the students’ joy at having Ms. Naomi back in their classrooms is certainly a good ‘sign!’ Mrs. Webb’s Technology Class was cutting edge, and our BKC program made after school special mean something wholly fun and new. To say the least, we’re back in full swing!

This month’s newsletter celebrates that unrivaled first day of school. There is nothing like it, that fresh start feeling, the end of summer’s hot days and the promise of fall’s fresh air. As a mom, I know our parents must wonder about their child’s day once goodbye is over, on every day, but even more so on this one special day. When the hallways finally quieted down from the morning excitement, I took my camera to the classrooms and playgrounds to catch every age group across the school. Pictures are truly worth a thousand words and I could never do that “First Day Feeling” justice in writing! Please enjoy our photo journal of World Academy’s First Day of School 2011.

Here’s to a great year at World Academy!

Jenny Smith.
